Foreword

Among the traits and qualities possessed by man, there exist certain characteristics peculiar to him as an individual. His appearance and physical dimensions readily identify him. He is a mass--a substance--an unknown quantity of structure and matter. His behavior, instincts, thoughts, and emotions--results of some hidden and obscure force within him--serve as a more judicious set of criteria by which to recognize him. They give man depth, scope, and meaning. He is now an individual, differentiated from humanity by this sixth sense, the basis upon which all complexities of man, his intelligence, and his mind are built. This esoteric impulse is that which is instilled by Him for the purpose of likeness to His image. What, then, is it that constitutes this innermost motivation if not a sense of being--a being around which to evolve our lives.

The Spirit

My school has a spirit
Freed by a rousing cheer,
A clapping of hands,
Or a broad smile of victory.
My school is spirited,
In time of demise,
On the athletic field
or in the classroom.
And there is always a swelling
Pride of awe when the
Alma Mater is sung.

Their vim and vigor urge Clintwood's team to victory--

Their lusty yells fill every silence--

They are the Clintwood High Cheerleaders--the essence of school spirit. They have worked so that their enthusiasm might direct our cheers with precision and fervor.

During the year, you can catch a glimpse of the nevertiring cheerleaders at work on decorating the halls or some device to create a spark of enthusiasm in the hearts of their fellow classmates.

THE ROAD GOODBYE

The road I took was named Goodbye
The path looked strange. I wondered why
It left familiar things behind.
A hand caught mine. . . I paid no mind.

The stranger never once did say
Just what had brought him on my way.
On we went, and some afraid
I wished I hadn't come, but stayed.

All the friends that I once knew
Took a road named Goodbye too.
There were no two roads just the same
Though all were called Goodbye by name.

And though I couldn't understand
We walked together hand in hand.
We said no words, but just walked on,
I thought of things now past and gone.

I thought of games I'd lost and won,
I thought of all the things I'd done,
I thought of those I loved and cared,
Of times we'd had, of things we'd shared.

I thought of those I'd come to know.
Just knowing them - they'd helped me so.
I thought of things, of tears I'd shed...
Those same things now brought smiles instead.

The tasks I'd done, those left to do,
I wondered how I'd make it through
When something inside seems to say,
"The best you can from day to day."

The way was rough; I knew the score,
It never ends. . . there's always more.
But now I know that all in all
Each thing in its won place will fall.

I thought of all the happy days,
The sad ones now just seemed a haze,
And in a flash I came to see
How much the past had meant to me.

We walked along - I wondered where
The future led and what was there.
The past still echoed from behind
I was its, and it was mine.

But in my heart was still a fear,
And in my eye a shining tear;
Yet on my face there was a smile,
And we walked forward all the while.

I walked along the road Goodbye.
I looked back once. . . I heaved a sigh.
Then I remembered at my side -
My silent, but my constant guide.

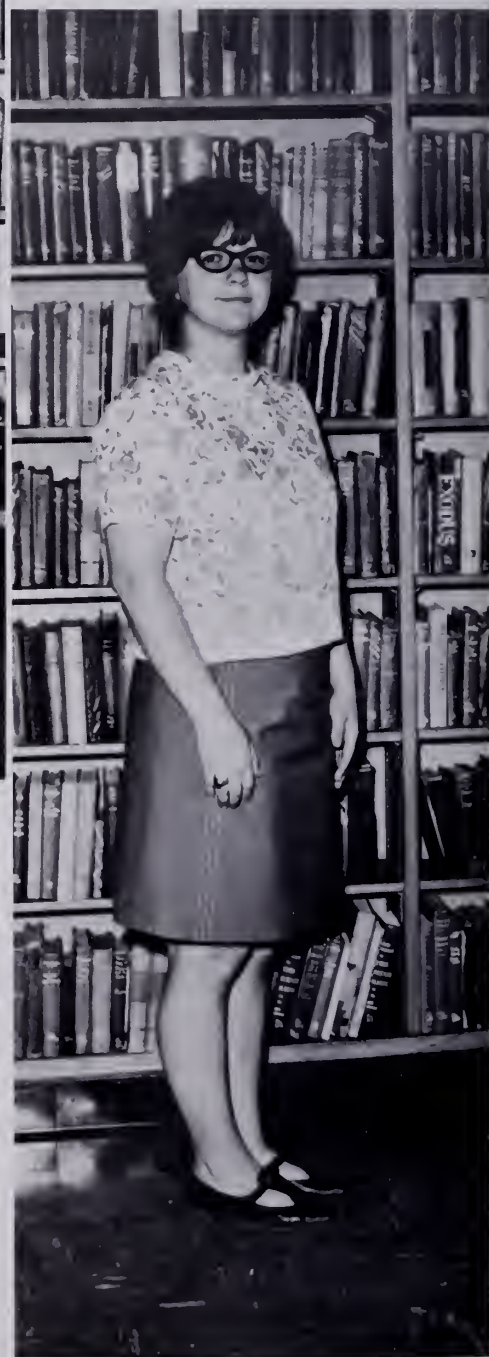

The stranger's hand I felt in mine.
I looked into his face this time.
I asked his name - he turned just so
He smiled and said, "I'm called Hello."
